

Wesley House, Cambridge

Easter School 2019

Monday 15 to Wednesday 17 April

An opportunity for those who preach or lead worship to join leading thinkers and academics in Cambridge and spend time reflecting, learning and developing their skills.

- ◆ In-depth teaching, including seminar time with keynote speakers
- ◆ Practically-focussed workshops
- ◆ Daily prayers

Dr Graham McFarlane

The Problem of Sin: relational dysfunctions – you can't shoot 'em and you can't leave 'em.

The Cross: alka seltzer, chemo or miracle? Understanding the 'how' of atonement.

Graham is Director of Research at the London School of Theology and a Methodist Presbyterian. He teaches doctrine and is also passionate about exploring the connections between theology and modern art. He has a particular interest in how Christian faith thinks about sacrifice and atonement in relation to the cross of Jesus and will explore this in two sessions over the first two days.

The Revd Dr Julie Lunn

The Cross and Work of Christ: Charles Wesley's mystical approach.

Julie is Lecturer in Practical and Social Theology at the Nazarene Theological College in Manchester, a Methodist Presbyterian, and has a particular interest in Wesleyan studies. Her PhD looked at the understanding of sanctification in the hymns of Charles Wesley and a version of her thesis has recently been published by Routledge.

Geraldine Allen and Sarah Rodgers

Music for Body, Mind and Soul

This workshop will aim to help participants to gain a new experience of music for themselves and in the context of their church worship by hearing more, connecting more and understanding better how music can thread through liturgy. Active singing and musical demonstrations will be part of the session. Geraldine is a professional clarinettist and Sarah is a professional composer and conductor. They worship at Swaffham Methodist Church.

Non-residential: £295

Residential: £495
